

ARCHITECTURE TODAY
APRIL 2004

409 Bridge-lifting consultancy

Consulting engineers MG Bennett were responsible for the performance and design specifications for the equipment required to move the Great Wharf Road Bridge in London's Docklands. No part of the structure was to be within the dock itself. The result was a massive hydraulic cylinder that will raise the north end of the structure 18.2m to allow a navigable passage beneath.
t 01709 373782